Art Unit: 1761

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Stoltz.

Stoltz teaches a flavor enhancer formulation comprising oil and a flavor (see entire patent, especially column 10, lines 35-56).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stoltz.

Stoltz discloses a flavor enhancer formulation comprising oil and a flavor (see entire patent, especially column 10, lines 35-56).

The claims differ as to the use of specific flavor enhancers.

All of the claimed flavor enhancers are notoriously well-known in the art and are used merely for their art-recognized function.

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to use any of the claimed flavor enhancers in that of Stoltz because the use of flavor enhancers and the specific flavor enhancers are conventional in the art.

In the absence of unexpected results, it is not seen how the claimed invention differs from the teachings of the prior art. Applicant's claims are drawn to a combination of known components which produces expected results, see In re Kerkhoven 205 USPQ 1069 and In re Gershon 152 USPQ 602.

All of the claim limitations have been considered. None of them are seen as serving as basis for patentability.

No claim is allowed.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
